

Sen. Byrd Believes Nation Heading for $8 Billion Deficit

Estimate Does Not Include Tax Cut Action

Washington — Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today the government appears headed toward an $8 billion deficit next year even without a general tax cut.

Byrd, who heads the senate finance committee, said he agrees with Secretary of the Treasury Anderson that red ink spending will top $3 billion in the present fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Anderson told the American Society of Newspaper Editors yesterday that even if federal revenues remain at a high level—which he said is unlikely—there will be a deficit approaching $4 billion in the year beginning July 1.

In January, President Eisenhower estimated there would be a $400 million deficit this fiscal year and a $500 million surplus next year. But that was before the deepened recession changed the picture.

Sees Revenue Cut

Byrd said he looks for a sharper drop in revenues than Anderson estimated.

"I think the deficit is likely to run $8 billion or even more," Byrd said. "The treasury estimated a $2 billion increase in revenues for fiscal 1959, but the indications are now that there will be a $2 billion drop instead of an increase."

"When the effects of the acceleration in spending begin to be felt, the deficit is going to mount up fast. I think the increase in spending will run into at least $4 billion, which, with the drop in revenue will make the total deficit at least $8 billion."

Along the same lines, the New York Times said it has been learned the Eisenhower administration expects a decline in the next fiscal year of at least $4 billion in receipts, unless of course the recession of the recession. The newspaper said this pointed to a budget deficit in fiscal 1959 of at least $8 billion.

Anderson said the administration is giving daily consideration to whether a tax cut would be advisable. He added that he is opposed to any abrupt reduction, saying modification of taxes must not be based "on the theory that a single dramatic action will automatically be all that is required to assure business recovery."

Pressure Easing

Byrd said he believes resistance to tax reductions — except for possible downward revision of some excise levies — is growing in congress.

He said he has found that some legislators he described as liberal Democrats are joining conservative Democrats and Republicans in favoring public works expenditures over tax cuts as anti-recession measures.

The labor department reported the number of jobless workers insured for unemployment rose by 37,800 in the week ended April 5 to a total of 3,314,000. This was the highest total since the end of World War II, the department's bureau of employment security said last night.

However in the subsequent week, the bureau said, there was a drop of 40,000 in initial claims for jobless benefits. The total of new claims in the week ended April 12 was 461,800, the bureau said. Initial claims cover workers just laid off. About two-thirds of the nation's workers come under the federal-state unemployment compensation system.

Jakarta Troops Advancing on Rebel Capital

Hope to Capture Bukittinggi Ahead Of Their Schedule

Jakarta, Indonesia — Spurred on by the easy capture of Padang, Jakarta troops advanced on the Sumatran rebels' capital today with hopes of taking it ahead of their original schedule.

President Sukarno's troops were pushing up 58 miles of winding mountain road from the port city of Padang toward Bukittinggi, the rebel capital and last remaining city.

After meeting only token resistance at Padang Thursday, the government revised its timetable which originally had allowed three days for the march on Bukittinggi. "It will be all over soon," a military spokesman predicted.

Associated Press Correspondent Murray Fromson, who witnessed the capture of Padang, saw only slight rebel counterfire during the amphibious invasion. Government air power completely disorganized the rebels, who fled under strafing, he reported.

Rebels Outnumbered

Three other columns of Jakarta forces continued to move toward Bukittinggi from the northwest, east and southeast. A military spokesman in Jakarta said Sukarno's forces outnumber the rebels almost four to one.

"I don't think it will take much longer now to finish the affair, unless of course the rebels resort to guerrilla warfare," he said. "Even then, numerically they will find it difficult in an awkward position."

The rebels have vowed to fight on in a hit-and-run war out of the jungles, using the same guerrilla tactics which won Indonesia her independence from the Dutch in 1949.

In that way they could continue their pressure for changes in Sukarno's government.

Lloyd Says Russia Hampering Envoys

Criticizes Gromyko for Not Sitting Down With Ambassadors

Ellesmere Port, England — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd today accused the Russians of hampering preparatory work for a possible summit conference.

He made the charge in a speech at a conservative party rally in his Cheshire district. Lloyd criticized Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for failing to sit down with the three western ambassadors in Moscow to begin preparatory work on a summit meeting. Gromyko has seen each of the three ambassadors separately, but formal discussions have yet to begin.

Lloyd deplored the Soviet government's accusation that U.S. planes with nuclear weapons were flying over the Arctic in the direction of Russian territory.

Assaults Timing

Lloyd said the Soviet government chose the precise moment when the west hoped summit preparatory work would get started to deliver a violent attack on the United States.

"They accuse the United States of fanning up war hysteria and endangering peace," he said. "It is not my purpose to go into the substance of this accusation, which will be discussed at the United Nations, but I cannot help expressing my disappointment that the Russians should have chosen this particular moment to launch it."

In London, labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell said the western powers could not afford to refuse to talk with the Soviet Union.

In a speech prepared for a regional party meeting, Gaitskell complained that some

San Francisco — William Heikkila, a 52-year-old draftsman, was arrested at 5 o'clock last night on deportation charges, was put on a 6 p. m. plane and was out of the United States early today before U. S. immigration officials confirmed the arrest.

A fellow worker said he saw two men take Heikkila away. Bruce Barber, local immigration official, said Heikkila was deported to his native Finland on grounds he was a Communist party member after entering the United States. Heikkila, not a U. S. citizen, entered at the age of 21 months.

Barber refused to say what Heikkila was aboard but said he definitely was "out of the country."

am and France agreed he was the logical choice for supreme commander.

Hitler's armies attacked France May 10, 1940, again through Belgium, going around the end of the Maginot line which Gamelin had counted on to protect the republic. Nine days later the allied command was broken and Weygand was called back to relieve Gamelin and recommend capitulation.

After France's surrender, the collaboration government in Vichy placed Gamelin on trial with former Premier Edouard Daladier and Leon Blum. He was charged with responsibility for the military collapse.

Gamelin refused to speak in his own defense and the charges finally were dropped without a decision.

In 1943 he was removed by the Germans to Buchenwald concentration camp and then, after where American troops liberated him in 1945. After the war, Gamelin was restored to the army's retired list and lived quietly in Paris.

Red Charges Against Up in Council Monday

2 Telephone Firms Granted Rate Increases

$3,480,000 Boost For Wisconsin and $96,311 for General

Madison — Rate increases totaling $3,600,000 annually were granted Friday to the state's two largest telephone companies by the Wisconsin Public Service commission.

The Wisconsin Telephone Co. and General Telephone Co. said they required the higher income to meet operating costs.

The PSC authorized Wisconsin Telephone a rate boost of $3,480,000 a year to earn a return of 6.1 per cent a year on its investment. General Telephone received a boost of $96,311 annually.

Wisconsin Telephone had asked for an increase of $5,300,000 to meet its operating costs. The PSC cut the request by $1,820,000. Wisconsin Telephone did not file a breakdown on how the increases would be passed on to customers.

$3.50 Average Per Capita

Officials estimated, however, that under the increase the average increase for each customer will be about $3.50 a year. This figure is expected to vary considerably, depending on the particular area.

Wisconsin Telephone was granted a net rate increase of $2,252,000 last July.

General Telephone filed a proposed rate schedule for individual customers when it asked for an increase of $165,654. The PSC cut the request and said that the allowable $96,311 would provide the utility with a net return on its investment of 6.26 per cent.

Under the General Telephone increase, rates for individual customers will average 80 cents a year. Again, however, as in the case of Wisconsin Telephone, rates will vary, depending on the particular area served.

Newspaper Reports

Truman Admits Error In Denying Interview

Chicago — The Chicago American says former President Truman admits he was wrong in telling the house banking committee this week that an exclusive interview he gave in 1950 "did not happen."

Truman's admission came to light yesterday in an interview by an American reporter who telephoned the former president at his Independence, Mo., home.

The American quoted Truman as saying he had "written to Rep. Spence (D-Ky.), chairman of the committee, and asked the committee to set the record straight" on the erroneous testimony. Truman was further quoted:

"I had forgotten about that interview. I regret very much what I said before the committee. But you know when you appear before committees, and they throw questions at you, you can't always think as fast, and your memory doesn't always work so good."

Body of Accident Victim Found on Roof of Home

Pemberton, N. J. — The body of an accident victim was found on the roof of a home today some eight hours after a car had crashed into a tree in the yard.

The body was identified as that of Herbert Haines, 21. His car was headed east on Magalloway road last night when it left the road, rolled over several times and landed tail up against a tree.

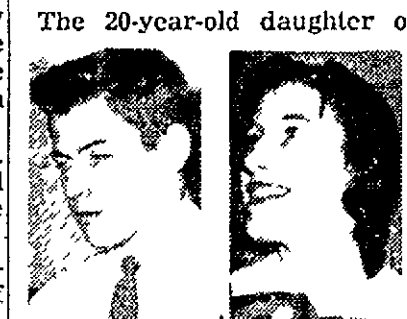

Police said his body was tossed to the top of the 18-foot high roof of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bush.

Another victim of the accident, Leroy Egenlauf, 26, was found unconscious beside the car at the time of the wreck. Police were unable to question him about the accident and, hence, did not learn that Haines had been in the car.

Egenlauf was taken to Burlington County hospital in serious condition. Both men are from Chatsworth.

Romance Ends, Missing Girl Returns Home

Springfield, Vt. — Priscilla "Polly" Whitcomb, who vanished from the Smith college campus for 17 months, says she voluntarily broke off her romance with a parole violator because she could not continue living "a life of false pretenses."

Thatcher — Priscilla U.S. Atty. Louis G. Whitcomb told newsmen she intends to stay home until she makes plans for the future and "these plans do not involve any other individual at the present time."

Richard S. Thatcher, 21, the restaurant counterman for whom Polly left school in November, 1956, was taken from Boston to Northampton, Mass., late yesterday to face a charge of unlawfully obtaining an automobile by trick or fraudulent representation.

The charge is based on Thatcher's renting of a car before the pair disappeared. The car was found later in a Boston parking garage.

Polly's statement that her plans at present involve no other individual was somewhat at variance with the tone of a letter she left Thatcher when she started home.

Lombardi Fined, Given Jail Term

Waukesha — Former Waukesha County Sheriff Mike Lombardi insisted Friday he was being made a "patsy," but was fined and sent to jail by a judge who described the veteran peace officer as "rather a fool than a criminal."

The sentencing of the portly Lombardi climaxed an investigation of vice and corruption in the county. The probe began more than a year ago after an admitted prostitute testified in a white slave trial that Lombardi accepted her favors free so that a night spot in which she worked might stay open.

The 49-year-old former sheriff, convicted by a circuit court jury, was fined a total of $1,600 and assessed court costs of $540. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail for permitting the Club 166 in the town of Menomonee Falls, to operate in violation of state laws against gambling and prostitution.

Former President Hoover Has Gall Bladder Removed

New York — Former President Hoover, who is 83, had his gall bladder removed today in an operation at the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical center. His condition was termed satisfactory.

Hoover had suffered several gall bladder attacks in the past. He entered the Medical Center's Harkness pavilion on Thursday for what at first was announced only as medical tests.

Sons Are Present

At 9:20 a.m. today the hospital issued this announcement:

"Ex-President Herbert Hoover underwent an operation for removal of a gall bladder today. The surgery was successful and attending physicians reported Mr. Hoover's condition as satisfactory."

A hospital spokesman said he also had been hospitalized with a gall bladder attack in 1950. Hoover resides at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

UN Security Body Ready To Hear Russian Claims Bombers Endanger Peace

United Nations, N.Y. — U.N. Security council delegates today prepared for debate on Russia's charges — denied in Washington — that U.S. bombers were courting global war.

The 11-nation council will meet Monday on the Soviet request that it study "urgent measures" to prevent flights of American jet bombers armed with nuclear weapons toward Russian borders.

U.N. observers predicted that the charges probably would end as have similar communist charges in the past — with overwhelming rejection.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, council president this month, called Monday's meeting at the request of Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev. Sobolev had sought a council session today but a U.N. secretariat poll of council members showed they preferred Monday, thus gaining time to check with their governments.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko first made the charges at a Moscow news conference yesterday. He said his government knew U.S. planes with nuclear bombs flew over polar regions toward the Soviet Union.

He cited a United Press story from Offutt Air Force base, April 7. The story described U.S. Strategic Air command procedures in dealing with suspected radar targets.

Gromyko said nuclear war could result from the "smallest error of an American technician."

Official U.S. Denial

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty labeled Gromyko's statements untrue. The state department denied — as Gromyko charged — the United States was "conducting provocative flights over the polar regions of the vicinity of the U.S.S.R."

The department said SAC was engaged only in practice to keep up its deterrent power and would attack only on President Eisenhower's orders. It did not dispute that U.S. bombers on training exercises sometimes fly toward Russia but said the air force's safeguards to prevent an unordered attack are foolproof.

Sobolev asked Lodge to convene the council to consider "taking urgent measures to end the flights of the United States military aircraft carrying atomic and hydrogen bombs toward the frontiers of the Soviet Union." He expressed belief the council would "take all the necessary measures for eliminating (this) threat to the cause of peace."

A Soviet source said he expected Sobolev would introduce a council resolution along this line.

Assail Propaganda

The American U. N. delegation "categorically rejected" the idea that U. S. Air Force activities threaten peace. A spokesman commented:

"A council debate on these new charges would demonstrate that the Soviets are using the technique of the 'big lie' to incite fear among the peoples of the world while proclaiming that they, the Soviets, want to relax tensions."

The spokesman said other "fantastic accusations directed against us—potato bugs, germ warfare, and the others—had all been proved untrue."

Veteran observers recalled that during the Korean war, the security council turned down Soviet resolutions condemning alleged U. S. bombing of communist China and charging the United States with germ warfare.

They forecast the present case would follow the same pattern—speeches by the Soviet and U. S. delegates and others, but no action.

Buildings Damaged in Train Deraiment

Milwaukee — Twenty cars of an eastbound Milwaukee Road freight train jumped the tracks at suburban Elm Grove this morning, damaging the depot and two other buildings.

The Waukesha county sheriff's office said no injuries were reported. Cause of the deraiment was not determined. Two freight cars demolished in the small depot building. Another car shattered a 15-foot section of the nearby Reinders Bros. feed store.

Man Almost Drowns After Saving Pals

New London Firemen Administer Oxygen To Him Twice Friday

New London — After saving two of his companions from drowning, Mathon Carrison, Waukegan, Ill., almost became a Wolf river victim, himself about 3:30 Friday afternoon.

The three men capsized the boat in which they were fishing near the iron bridge of the Chicago and North Western Railway company on County Trunk S near the city limits.

The New London fire department administered oxygen to Carrison on the river bank after he was rescued by Francis and Simon Quaintance.

Carrison spent himself in the cold water rescuing his companions, Charles Brehm, who has an artificial left arm, and John Horbath, who can not swim.

Clinging To Boat

The Quaintance brothers found Carrison clinging to the boat and brought him to shore. The fire department was called a second time when Carrison lost consciousness in his room at the Elwood hotel.

The attending New London physician said Carrison had water in his lungs and also was suffering from shock and exposure.

The fire department also was called about 1:10 Friday afternoon to extinguish a grass fire near the Highway 54 bridge over the Embarrass river.

Howden President of Growth Corporation

Industrial Development Directors Also Name Minahan, Pertain, Brummund to Officer Posts

George A. Howden, chairman of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce industrial development committee, Friday was elected president of the newly-formed Appleton Industrial Development corporation.

Victor I. Minahan, Jr., outgoing chamber president, was elected vice president; C. A. Pertain, treasurer of Appleton Wire Works, Inc., treasurer, and Atty. Walter H. Brummund, secretary.

Howden Minahan

The four were nominated by a 3-man committee composed of William E. Buchanan, Appleton Wire president; Richard W. Mahony, Sr., Appleton Coated Paper company president and general manager, and Minahan.

Occasion for the election was the first meeting of the corporation's board of directors. Members of the board also include Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell, William H. Pifer, Harold C. Adams, Kenneth J. Benson, Richard Hinz, Leonard E. Pasch, Otto A. Hansen, Walter L. Rugland and William E. Schubert.

Brummund Pertain

The directors attempted by discussion to outline what responsibilities the corporation will have in relation to the chamber's industrial development committee and the city council's committee and then adjourned to meet again in a few weeks to decide on these questions:

1. What will be the value of stock to be issued? The articles of incorporation authorize 5,000 shares each of two kinds of stock, a Class A and a Class B, neither with a par value. Only difference between the two is that Class B will be redeemed by the corporation at paid-in value within 90 days after a written notice from the shareholder.

2. What shall be the time and place of regular meetings by the board? It was said the board should try to meet monthly.

Other Questions

Howden outlined these other questions which the board probably will have to answer at early meetings:

Should the corporation buy land now to hold for industrial growth? Inherent in the question is another: Is the 40-acre industrial park held by the city council enough land?

If the decision is to buy more land, who should buy it? The corporation? Or the city?

If the decision is to buy, where should the land be purchased adjacent to the present city industrial park? Would it be advisable to appoint an advisory committee composed of the city's leading industrialists?

Separate Entity

Discussion of the division of responsibilities between the three organizations in the field showed that the directors feel there may be some misunderstanding about the corporation. The corporation, Minahan said, is completely independent of the chamber, the chamber committee and the city council committee. As a corporation, it is a separate entity, he said.

But, it was brought out, the corporation necessarily will work closely with two committees. It will have to, it was said, because inquiries about land for expansion may be made to any one of the three organizations.

Generally, it was said, the corporation expects the chamber committee to do the promotional work in the industrial development field, to attempt by advertising and other means to create a favorable climate among the citizens and new and existing industries.

Council Duties

The city council committee generally will be asked not only to buy and resell, or reserve, land for industry, but also to make sure the interested industry has what it needs in city services—sewer, water, zoning and the like.

Directors said they expect both committees will quickly notify the corporation when they have mibbles of interest from industries.

Mayor Mitchell said the council committee has told him to seek periodic meetings with the corporation and the chamber committee to make sure everyone is working in the same direction.

To Annex Shortly

Mitchell said the 40-acre industrial park will be annexed to the city shortly. It was suggested to him that the city hire a planner to arrange the price for which the park land will sell. The land will sell at cost, but the pricing is somewhat complicated by the costs which will come from extension of city services, Mitchell pointed out.

Mitchell also reported that he expects negotiations to continue with at least one of two city manufacturers who expressed interest in obtaining part of the park.

Howden said recent negotiations with a Massachusetts firm revealed that the company was interested in the city for two major reasons: 1. The railroad car pooling system employed by manufacturers here, and 2. the industrial park.

FREE SOUVENIR BASEBALLS, one to the driver of each car, are being given away this weekend at Thomson's Standard Service station, 911 W. College avenue, pictured above. A Saturday and Sunday salute to the world champion Milwaukee Braves and the new Fox Cities "Foxes", the souvenir baseballs are the station's way of wishing the best of luck for the coming season to the Fox Cities Foxes and all the "little leaguers" in the area. Readers are invited to stop in this weekend to get acquainted and to fill up their tanks with either Standard's Gold Crown super premium gasoline or Standard's Red Crown King-size regular gasoline and get the 'Big Bonus.' The station is open daily from 6 a.m. to 12 midnight.

Buys Unused Miles
"Nowhere in this area," says Thomson, "will you get a better deal on a new set of Atlas tires. I will buy the unused mileage on your tires and apply it against the purchase of a new set of Atlas tires."
"I will allow you even more for a good sound recappable tire," he explains. "I don't guess at the percentage of thread left on your tire; but use a percentage gauge to make sure you get everything that's coming to you. Come in and see how we do it."

Readers can phone Thomson at RE 3-9891 and tell the station what they would like to have done to their car. It will then be picked up and given the service for which the station is noted.

ONE OF THE BUSIEST BOOTHS at the K.P. Home Show, now in progress, is that of the Zaug Vending Service, where automatic merchandising machines of many types make up the display. The firm has over 1000 of the machines on location, and is presently celebrating its 20th anniversary of servicing automatic merchandising machines in the Fox River valley. Slogan for the exhibit is "From Penny Peanut Machines (1938) to Plant Feeding (1958)."

Readers are invited to stop at the Zaug booth to see and try the very latest in coffee, candy, cigarette, milk and hot foods from the machines and to see them in operation. "Try our coffee — there's a difference," Roger Zaug, owner, suggested Friday.
Satisfied customers have built this business from its humble beginnings to its present level of over 1000 machines on location, he said.
Readers are invited to feel free to stop in at the Zaug offices and warehouse, 411 S. Pearl street, New London; have a cup of coffee, and see for themselves the clean orderly premises and pleasant surroundings.

Adenauer Says Bonn Won't Insist on Talks About German Reunification
London—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer assured British leaders Thursday West Germany will not rigidly insist on discussion of German reunification at the proposed east-west summit conference.
Informed sources said the Chancellor told Prime Minister Macmillan that when they talked at the prime minister's Downing street residence.
West Germany would insist on summit discussion of reunification only if the Big Four leaders go into details of European security, British and German sources said.
But if an exchange of views on uniting East and West Germany can be worked into discussion of more general topics, the sources said, West Germany will be gratified.

Informants said today's talks, like those yesterday soon after Adenauer arrived, showed general agreement on east-west problems. Discussion of East-West issues and possible summit topics now has been largely completed.

Business Review Advertisers Sponsor Home Show Displays

Many of the advertisers, whose stories are seen regularly on these pages are sponsoring booth displays at the Knights of Pythias 19th annual Home Show, it was seen when the big exhibition of home products opened its doors Thursday night at Castle Hall and the Appleton Armory building.

Readers of the Business Review will recognize many of the quality products being shown from the stories that have appeared about them in this Post-Crescent section.

A touch of Reno in Appleton is featured at the Home Appliance company's exhibit, where viewers may spin a wheel for merchandise certificates. The Frigidaire "sheer line" family of appliances is on display, including famous Frigidaire built-in units.

Home building and remodeling products are the crux of the Fraser Lumber company display.

Buick Introduces New Spring Colors

Five new spring colors, all in the increasingly popular light pastel-type shades, were announced today by Buick.

Edward C. Kennard, general sales manager of Buick, said that four of the new colors were in lacquer and the fifth in lucite paint. The new colors, now available, are Cobalt Blue, Desert Sage, Mojave Yellow, Canyon Cedar and Gold Mist. The latter is the lucite shade.

A recent Buick paint usage study revealed that blue was the most popular 1958 color. The new shade is a bright blue which Kennard said was likely to gain considerable popularity.

Desert Sage is a delicate orchid hue, Mojave Yellow a sparkling jonquil shade and Canyon Cedar a rose beige tone.

Local Buick dealer is the Cloud Buick company, 210 N. Morrison street.

Proposal to Transfer Control of Upper Fox River Spawns Intensely Debated Issue

Winnebagoland Unit Leads Fight for Open Navigation, Workable Lock at Eureka

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

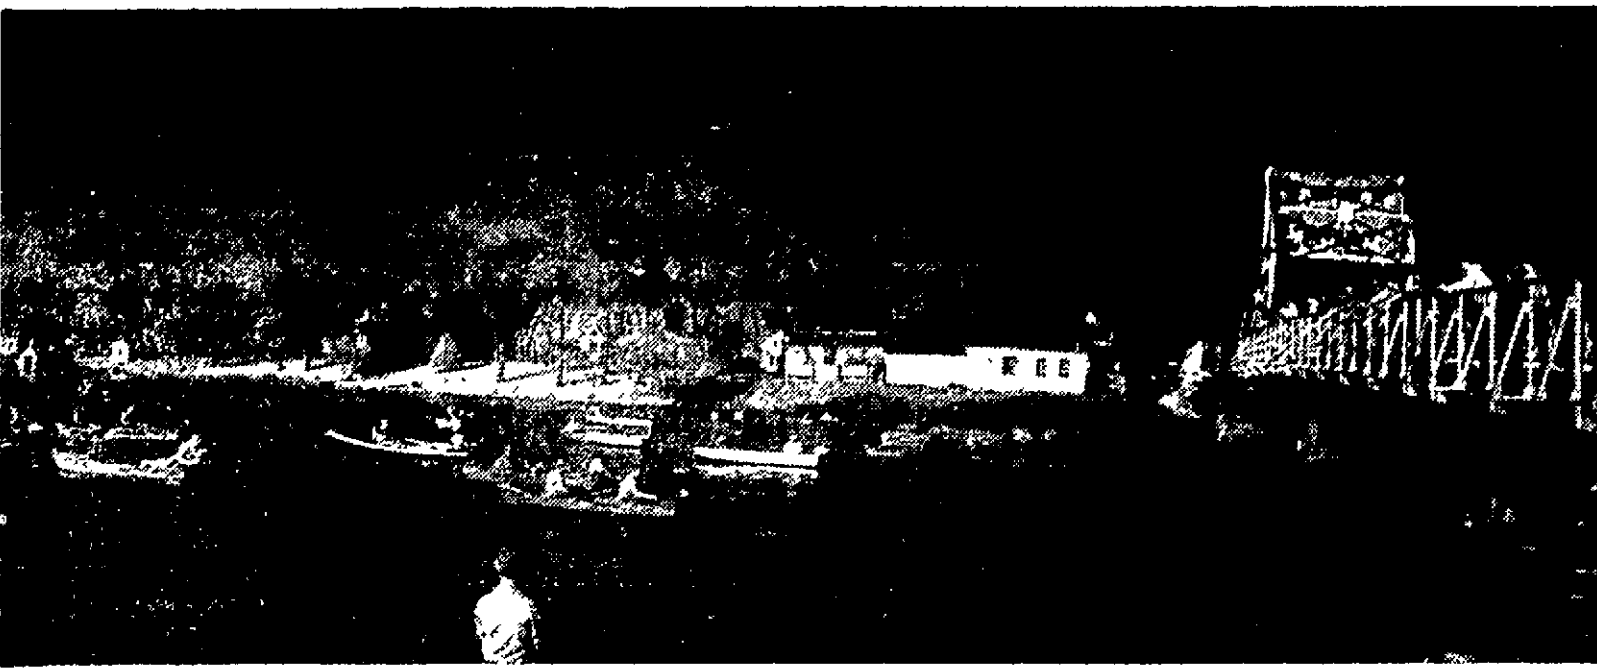

A 22-mile section of the upper Fox river from its mouth to Berlin, including the government lock at Eureka, is the key to one of the keenest, most intensely debated issues to confront Wisconsin conservation authorities in recent years.

Spurred by a plan to transfer control of the upper Fox system of waterways from federal to state authorities, the proposal has become entwined in a maze of debate and legal technicalities.

Nine Locks
Open navigation on the upper Fox has become a matter of monumental importance to boating groups in the Fox river valley. The organization which has led the fight for open from Berlin can move downstream to the lake while other boat groups can come as far as Berlin. Altogether, Willecke said, the move will open an additional 22 miles to the navigable length of the upper Fox.

Good Shape
Chief reason for the committee's concern, according to Willecke, is a proposal that the federal government fill in all the locks except those at Princeton and Montello. Willecke and the committee believe it would be shortsighted to eliminate the Eureka lock since, the group says, it is in very good shape. "The lock was repaired as recently as 1941 at a cost of over $51,000. Why should we destroy it and the 22 miles of waterway which could navigation is the Winnebagoland Waterways committee, chaired by G. K. Willecke, 1938 S. Bouten street.

Many Pike Fishermen Rode the Wolf river at Fremont this week but few good catches were reported. Post-Crescent Photographer Andrew Mueller caught this late afternoon scene on infra-red film. Some anglers turned away from the walleyes Friday and took some good catches of crappies from the middle bayou near Fremont. Some crappies were being taken off the bridge as well. (Post-Crescent Photo)

There are nine locks on the upper Fox from where the river junctions with the Wisconsin river near Portage. "We are concerned only with the lock at Eureka," says Willecke. "We want to make certain that it is not filled in, thus closing off the river to open navigation for all time."

If the lock remains open and a solution is found for maintenance and operation, boaters be restored to navigable condition?" the group asks.

Gov. Vernon Thomson, in correspondence with Willecke on March 18, assured the waterways committee chairman there would be no "precipitous action" taken in the matter since statutes prohibit the state from accepting jurisdiction over federal property without the consent of the legislature.

Point of Contention
Early this month, however, Conservation Director Lester P. Voigt said the proposed federal-state agreement is threatened by legal difficulties brought on by the demands of power boat groups who are asking that congress provide that the locks along the waterway be kept in operable condition.

This, Willecke said, is not a true representation of the facts since the waterways committee is asking only that the Eureka lock be repaired.

One of the major points of contention is the matter of maintenance and operation of the Eureka lock is repaired and opened. Voigt says he has an informal opinion from the state attorney general's office that the state could not operate such locks or lock—under the international improvements clause of the state constitution.

Willecke and the committee contend there are many ways of financing maintenance and operation, including charging the boat owners who use the lock. A. T. Tellefson, commodore of the Berlin Boat club, has suggested that the Princeton locktender handle operation of the lock at Eureka on a mileage basis, with the boat clubs paying him a lockage fee per boat.

Immediate Concern
Maintenance and operation at this point, Willecke says, is academic since his committee's immediate concern is to save the lock from permanent destruction.

Another point of major interest concerning the upper Fox is the conservation department's plan for fish and wildlife development along the stream. Gov. Thomson, in his most recent letter to Willecke, pointed out that when the conservation commission undertook the study of the river it was the opinion that the locks were not essential to hunting and fishing development. "The conservation commission has at present indicated its interest only in the hunting and fishing possibilities of the areas and in so doing did not anticipate extensive navigational use involving the locks," the governor wrote.

Willecke points out his committee has no desire to jeopardize the plans of the conservation department for hunting and fishing development. "We believe, however," Willecke said, "that boating interests in this part of the state have grown to the point where their voices should be heard in matters of this nature. We represent many boaters from a large area and we believe their wishes should be considered before any action is taken on this transfer."

The committee is pressing for a meeting with the conservation commission and the governor so, as Willecke puts it, "all viewpoints are clearly understood so that no precipitous action will foreclose the possibility of navigation on the upper Fox."

Fight Against Forest Insects To be Sharpened

New Pest Control Center Approved For Wisconsin

The more active campaign against forest insects and other pests will be directed in the future from a new central forest pest control center and laboratory here.

The Wisconsin conservation commission has approved the expenditure of about $70,000 for the construction of the center at the Nevin fish hatchery near the state capital, including testing and research equipment.

The action has been taken under the 1955 act of the state legislature which gave the commission responsibility for prevention and control of insect and pest damage on public and private forest lands corresponding to the earlier power and responsibility for the control of forest fires and the protection of standing forest against dangers from fire.

Changing Nature
The development underlines the changing nature of the forest protection program of the state.

Foresters have warned in recent years that the most significant hazard to the state's forest inventory is the damage by insects and diseases.

The center will include a forest entomology and pathology laboratory, soil testing laboratory and other facilities that will permit scientists to check and experiment on insect controls and disease prevention methods.

Trying Juvenile Criminals

The knowledge that punishment will be sure and swift long has been recognized as a deterrent to crime. It is much more important that punishment be certain than that it be severe.

New York authorities have just spent three months and over $250,000 in the trial of seven youthful gang members accused of murder. No effort was spared in bringing out the facts in the slaying of Michael Farmer, 15, the polio-crippled son of a New York City fireman. He was stabbed and beaten as he prepared to "sneak a swim" in a park pool last July 30. His friend Roger McShane, 17, who was with him at the time of the attack, testified at the trial. Young McShane's courage in coming forward to testify despite threats from the gang was a notable display of courage.

Eighteen boys, all members of the Egyptian Dragons, were arrested following the slaying. Eleven were given reformatory sentences because they were under 15 years of age and could not be tried for murder in New York. The remaining seven, ranking in age from 15 to 19, went to trial.

Because the seven defendants said they did not have the means to retain private counsel, the court named 27 lawyers to represent them. Sixty-five witnesses were called and 6,000 pages of testimony was taken. No expense was spared to give the boys a fair trial because, as Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman said, "We decided this was a case we wanted the people of the country to hear."

Constructive Attitude

Recently in discussing "Myths of Suburbia" we cited as an instance of suburban intransigence toward city growth the appointment of a committee in the town of Grand Chute to consider incorporation of the town as a village, with the express purpose of preventing the further growth of Appleton beyond its present north, northwest and northeast boundaries.

It is a pleasant duty to amend our report in line with the utterances of the committee's members and Town Chairman Arthur Lecker at a recent meeting. The committee announced that it considers village incorporation to be impractical, and that it will concentrate instead on studying unification of the town's school districts, as well as making the town more attractive to industry.

Chairman Lecker was even more forthright in his approach to the problem of town and city relations. He said he sees no reason to try to block the future growth of Appleton, even though that necessarily means further annexations by the city of areas now a part of the town. "We should try to get along with the city," he stated.

This is a constructive attitude which should be applauded by the people of Appleton and Grand Chute alike. Certainly cooperation among municipal officials to solve mutual problems is more important today than ever before, with the mobility of our population in this age of the fast auto-

This was a very dramatic way of getting the story of one New York street gang before the public. This story is now written in the record which contains no less than 1,500,000 words. Day by day as the record was compiled, the story was told in the press in New York. It was a story of great readability as it developed before the background of seven wayward youths in court fighting for their lives. There is probably no better way in the world to focus attention on the activities of juvenile criminals than to reproduce the stories of the individuals in such a trial.

Although the threat of death in the electric chair was hanging over all of the seven youngsters for the greater part of the trial period, in the end there was no such punishment. As the case went to the jury the court ruled that only two of the defendants might be found guilty of first degree murder with the mandatory death penalty. However, the jury found them guilty of second degree murder, for which the penalty is 20 years to life in prison. Two others were found guilty of manslaughter for which the penalty is 15 years. The other three were acquitted.

What the effect of this trial will have on other New York street gangs is impossible to predict. Undoubtedly there are certain young morons who will yearn for the publicity that has been given to the Egyptian gang, but the prospect of 15 to 20 years in prison has very little appeal to anyone above the mark of moron.

mobile, the modern highway and the flight of urban populations to outlying areas. It would be difficult to calculate the amount of tax money that has been wasted in this country in recent years because of the irrational jealousies and competing ambitions of suburban and city municipal leaders, but the sum must be stupendous. Let us hope that throughout the Fox Cities area we will continue to have a majority of municipal officials who realize that cooperation, not competition, is what we desperately need today to meet the problems of our exploding urban centers.

The town form of government was designed for, and is peculiarly suited for, the needs of rural people. Because of the population shifts of the last two decades, however, many town governments have suddenly found themselves governing urban people with urban ideas, and confronted with urban problems which the town form of government was never intended to meet. The obvious solution to this problem is for urban people wherever possible to remain under urban forms of government — city or village — and for the towns to continue their historic role of serving the rural population. This means that as a city or village grows its boundaries should be pushed outwards, through annexations. A general appreciation of the logic of this solution would eliminate many of the vexing problems that are now harassing growing communities.

Monster in the Basement

There's a monster in your basement. Or, perhaps, it lurks in the shadows of your garage waiting in sinister silence to clutch you, leech-like, and cling until nature breaks its hold.

Born as a by-product of man's consuming desire for a carpet of green, this Frankenstein carries the common alias of lawn mower.

Cold and mechanical, it is possessed of a gluttonous heart.

When the first warm wave of summer arrives and you guide your mower over the tender, green shoots and breathe deeply of delicious air, your soul will bound and you'll be swallowed in the ecstasy of freedom from winter's bond.

But the monster is not yet at work — its heinous task is still undone.

As spring passes into summer and oppressive heat pours down, clogging your breath and saturating your body with perspiration, the shoots of grass grow tough and thick. Your lush, green carpet overnight becomes snarled and cries for another cutting almost before your breath is back from the previous one.

Now the monster has you in its grip. When you go to work in the morning it will stand in its corner and you'll see it smirk. Just a machine? Not on your life. It has a brain and it knows you'll return to it by afternoon. The grass, you see, needs another cutting.

Should State Brag About Pupil 'Retention'?

From The Wisconsin Tax News

The Wisconsin Education association points with pride to statistics showing Wisconsin leading the nation in "retention" power of its high schools—with more than 90 per cent of the pupils finishing the eighth grade also finishing high school.

It is to be hoped fervently that this is not the most important function of Wisconsin high schools. Obviously the easier the schools make their programs the greater the number of pupils they will be able to "retain."

Eventually the high school diploma becomes merely a certificate that the youth getting it was exposed to a certain amount grading the quality of the average education of education. There is grave danger in down-in order to build up a high graduation score.

An Investment in Eternity

Lawrence College Has 19 Endowed Professorial Chairs; 15 Were Secured by Dr. Samuel Plantz

By Marguerite Schumann

Henry Adams was a cold-tempered Boston blue blood who spent his 19th-century lifetime in glacial contemplation of the fact that he was not a chip off the old block.

For the old block in the Adams family meant being an ambassador to Great Britain like father Charles Francis, or being presidents of the United States like grandfather—John—Quincy and great-grandfather John. Yet when Henry Adams, the self-advised failure, rapped out his sentiments on education, he was listened to with deep respect.

(This is the first of a series of seven articles on the personalities behind the endowed professorial chairs at Lawrence college. The writer has previously produced "Creation of a Campus," a short history of the men behind Lawrence's building program, which appeared first in the Post-Crescent in series form.)

Perhaps the classic among his pronouncements was: "A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

There have been a lot of people in the intervening century who in quiet, anonymous ways have agreed with Henry Adams. They have translated their faith in the teaching man into deeds which do not take up many lines in the average college catalog—which indeed may be completely unknown except to those who keep a college's account books.

Lawrence college, too, has its list of unsung heroes, those who have never sought to have their names carved on the front of any building. They are the ones who have invested in the teachers of Lawrence, and in so doing have invested in eternity as well.

Some Anonymous

Sometimes investing in eternity meant investing in anonymity as well. One couple gave Lawrence nearly $100,000 during a 4-year period when the Teens turned into the Twenties to endow four professorships, on the condition that their names be withheld from the public. Their anonymous benefactions to the Lawrence physical plant were on the same scale.

The idea of an endowed chair is a simple one: A donor gives a sum of money sufficiently large that its annual 5 per cent income covers a professor's salary. The donor designates the name of the chair (sometimes his own, sometimes that of a relative) and fixes its field of study.

Of course, what is considered "sufficiently large" has altered over the years as the national economy has altered. Lawrence's first endowed chair was begun with $10,000 during the Civil war. The income on that amount today would pay a senior professor just about a month's salary.

Chairs endowed during the Tens and Twenties ran between $25,000 and $50,000. Today, President Douglas M. Knight estimates that it will take between $150,000 and $200,000 to endow a chair to produce a top faculty member's 1958 wage, with no allowance for increase in the future.

Dr. Plantz Secured 15

A look-back over the list of endowed chairs at Lawrence impresses every amateur historian with the one big fact that he meets at every turn of the page in the college archives: that Samuel Plantz was the great builder.

There are now 19 endowed chair funds at Lawrence. Plantz secured 15 of them. At one time (1920) Plantz had on the board of trustees five different persons who ultimately were to account for eight separate chairs.

They were a marvelously diverse group, these people that Samuel Plantz persuaded to the endowed-chair cause. There was a U. S. congressman, a quarry-owner, a couple of lumbermen, a lawyer, a spinster who led a quiet life in a quiet southern Wisconsin town, a real estate man who planned the city of Bayfield, a toy manufacturer, a couple of paper magnates, and (to show that Samuel Plantz was truly a worker of minor miracles) a district superintendent of the Methodist church!

Four of the great figures in Lawrence's teaching and administrative past are also commemorated in the endowed chair list, but in each case it was a memorial chair established by a relative or friend of more substantial worldly goods: Lawrence faculty have laid up their treasures only in heaven! The memorial chairs bring to mind a great teacher of Latin and Greek, who concluded his 44 years in a Lawrence classroom by falling dead one morning after he took roll call; a great president who dabbled in state politics and more-than-dabbled in writing for national magazines; a missionary to the Oneida Indians and the college's first steward; an dthe well-loved wife of a president who was a champion fund-raiser even in the days when the ladies were supposed to stay home with their tating.

Some of the named chairs have occasioned mirth over the years. The college president could complain, "My seat is a seat of Paine." Or there have been jokes about the Wing chair. At present it is considered highly suitable that the professor who holds the Child chair in mathematics is singularly blithe and boy-like.

Some Not Assigned

There have been occasional periods in the college's past when a chair has not been assigned. An endowed chair connotes honor for the holder, and it has not been Lawrence's practice to bestow it on any faculty member with less rank than associate professor. When a department is staffed with only lower ranks, the chair has sometimes been vacant. Then, too, some donors made their gifts so specific that conditions can no longer be met. The Alumni chair in natural history, for example, can go only to a Lawrentian on the faculty in that field, and there have been none of sufficient rank for many years. The Edwards-Alexander chair in English literature has been unoccupied since the death of Dr. Dorothy Waples—in 1947, for it must be given to a woman.

Here are the endowed chairs to come to Lawrence in its first 110 years:

- 1864—The Lee Claflin chair of ethics and civil polity.
- 1874—The Alumni chair of natural science.
- 1885—The C. N. Paine memorial chair in ethics and Christian evidences.
- 1896—The Philetus Sawyer chair in physics and chemistry.
- 1896—The David G. Ormsby chair in history and political science.
- 1902—The Robert McMillan chair in chemistry.
- 1902—The Edwards-Alexander chair in English literature.
- 1905—The Hiram A. Jones memorial chair in Latin language and literature.
- 1906—The George M. Steele memorial chair of Greek language and literature.
- 1907—The Child chair in mathematics.
- 1907—The Isaac M. Wing chair in German and English.

- 1910—The David Salem Mann chair in philosophy.

- 1956—The Henry Colman chair in mathematics.

Fletcher Knebel Potomac Fever

The government has 200 proposals to shoot a man into space. It shows our distorted sense of values when we consider men, monkeys and dogs expendable — but not one woman.

Resolves of the Daughters of the American Revolution were more tranquil than usual. In fact, had Paul Revere heard them, he might have pulled up the covers — and gone back to sleep.

Gov. Meyner's man triumphs in New Jersey elections. Democrats say Meyner can't be very anxious to run for president — he hasn't even asked Lyndon Johnson's permission yet.

Ike asks a newsman if he'd volunteer to be shot into space. After -thought answer: "It depends, Mr. President, on how much worse this recession gets."

Economists' recession jargon: "Durable goods" — a piece of household equipment in which the motor endures until two days after the final payment.

Spring fever: A strange feeling that starts at your toes and works its way up to your shoulders. Doctors call it yard ache — and prescribe a power mower.

Looking Backward

Machine Shop Under Construction

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of April 13, 1939.

A new establishment is now being built on the Second Ward water power, east of Brown's pump factory, which will be great advantage to this section of the country.

It will be a general machine and repair shop for the repair of mill and farm machinery. An excellent lathe has been put in place.

Mr. E. Page is an experienced machinist and mechanic and cannot fail to give satisfaction. He will add general blacksmithing and horseshoeing to his business and anything in the line of repairing will receive his prompt attention.

Among our numerous industrial establishments, probably none will be found more advantageous to the general public than this new enterprise.

Appleton came in for criticism at the session of the Wisconsin Public Service commission's hearing on electric and gas rates here. Alderman Phillip Vogt, one of the signers of a petition charging that rates here were too high, made the criticism, declaring that under the system in use many people could not understand how the rates were made up. Rehearsals for "Stabat Mater," which was to be presented at Lawrence Memorial chapel early in May, was to begin soon, according to Dean Carl J. Waterman, director.

Kenneth K. DuVal, president of the Appleton First National bank was appointed Outagamie county chairman for the new United States savings bond campaign.

A Neenah table tennis tournament in two divisions was announced by Paul Stacker, Neenah recreation director. The tournament was to be on Wednesday and Thursday nights at the recreation building.

Your Problems

Woman Can Lead Her Man to Liquor, Can't Make Him Drink

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I've been going with a man for almost a year. He is something of a mystery to me. He refuses to have even one little drink to be sociable. It's very annoying.

Everyone I know enjoys a few high-balls. I like a couple of drinks before dinner, and I'm certainly no lush. My friend isn't against liquor for others, but he wants no part of it himself. I've tried to get him to take a sip of my drink but he won't, even to be a sport.

The other night I begged him to take just one drink to see if he liked it. I thought it would be good for him because liquor loosens people up and make them friendlier. He refused (in front of guests) and now I'm sore at him. Don't you think he'd be less stubborn if he really love me? — Sue Z. Q.

Why don't YOU be a good sports and stop nagging this man? He may be a reformed alcoholic who shouldn't have so much as a teaspoon of liquor, much less one drink.

As for liquor being "good for people" because it "loosens them up and makes them friendly," I have news for you. I hear from thousands of women whose husbands have become so "loose and friendly" they can't hold jobs, and are in deep financial trouble.

Get smart and stop pressuring this man. Since he's good enough to allow you to drink if you want to, you should allow him NOT to drink if he doesn't want to.

DEAR ANN: I'm a working girl in a new city. Several of the young women at the office have invited me to parties to help me make friends.

Unfortunately, I'm not the bold type and I find myself floundering, not knowing more than three or four in a room of fifteen or twenty. Once I was introduced as "the new girl" in this way: "Folks, meet Mary."

The hostess then mumbled something about "people forget names anyway," and I was on my own.

I've been taught it's proper for a gentleman to approach a lady. I'd feel uncomfortable going up to a man and introducing myself. The etiquette book says I'm right. What do you say? — LONELY

I don't know what book you're looking at, but I suggest you throw it away and use common sense. It's perfectly proper for a lady to introduce herself to a gentleman in the home of a friend. This is not the same as starting a conversation in a bus station or other public places. If you use your head and don't born in on a gentleman who is talking to another gal, I see nothing wrong with making the first move.

DEAR ANN: What do you think of a man with four grown children who has had a succession of love affairs with other women for the past 25 years? Now that he's older he behaves better but still carries the picture of his last girl friend in his wallet — next to his grandchildren's photos!

I'm a wife who never looked right or left. Yet, in the past two years he has accused me of having affairs, and never fails to check the driveway when he comes home at night for strange tire marks. He does this regularly and in such a

'Mercy Dodd: Presumptive Evidence'

Author Proves Triple-Threat

Dion Boucicault, Irish author of "Mercy Dodd: Presumptive Evidence" to be produced by the Lawrence college theatre, was a dynamic and revolutionary figure in the English and American theater of the 19th century. Actor, playwright, and theater manager, he was equally successful in all three branches of the theatre. A prolific writer, he is credited with about 150 plays, many of them French translations or adaptations of novels.

Sought Public Approval

He began what was to be a long successful theatrical career as a provincial actor in England. Before he was 21, Boucicault had written his first play, "London Assurance," which was an immediate success.

He acted in and produced many of his own plays, striving to answer the public taste and to bring people into the theatre. His life and works were divided between England and the U. S. From 1853 through 1860 he was in the United States, touring with his plays, founding a theatre in Washington, and managing some in New York. He spent several active years in London, and finally settled permanently in New York, where he died in 1890.

One of his best known plays was "The Colleen Bawn" produced in 1860 in which he starred. His most popular work was his adaptation of "Rip Van Winkle" (1865) in which Joseph Jefferson played so many years.

He was married to a well-known actress, Agnes Kelly, who accompanied him on his tours and acted in many of his plays.

Shared in Receipts

To the business side of the theater, Boucicault made two contributions. He eliminated stock companies which had thrived for many years and instead hired actors for productions. He improved the lot of penniless dramatists to the extent that successful authors were able to earn a comfortable livelihood. By means of his own stature, he began the practice of sharing in box office receipts.

Boucicault was a truly amazing personality. Allardyce Nichol, who collaborated with F. Theodore Cloak in editing six Boucicault plays, says of him, "(his) importance as a dramatist rests on two things—Winkle" (1865) in which Joseph Jefferson played so many years.

His effects may seem to us, he had an acute eye for oddity in real life, and many of his best scenes rely not on scenic splendor, but on the depiction, through laughter or tears, of domestic interiors."

Boucicault's domestic melodrama will be presented by Director Cloak April 24, 25 and 26, the weekend of May 1, 2 and 3 in Memorial union.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Through the Trackless Lands of Alaska during the Gold Rush days walked Father Francis Monroe. Miners on the loneliest streams learned to know him. In one 500-mile trip, he lost his shoes; yet, he continued. He helped the sick and started a hospital. He carried one sick man miles on his back.

He was an engineer and carpenter. While working on a church, a 25-foot timber toppled. He cried a warning to his helpers, then stood and broke the force of the blow with his own body.

Six years later, after he had continued to carry on his inspiring work, a hospital examination revealed the blow had broken his back. Such was the power of his faith. (AP Newsfeature)

General Tax Cut Opposed By Rep. Byrnes

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

Washington—Rep. A Wisconsin house member who devotes much of his time to tax matters reports there is less feeling in congress now for a general tax cut than there was a month ago.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, a member of the tax-writing house ways and means committee, says:

"I do not believe there should be a general tax reduction bill. There are some areas, however, where corrections are needed, such as repeal of the tax transportation of property. This includes cars, refrigerators and all such things which are manufactured. The tax acts to pyramid the price to the consumer.

Other Adjustments. "We also should permit faster depreciation on used equipment such as is now permitted on new equipment. Other tax adjustments should be made on small business enterprises."

But as for any general tax cut now, Byrnes said he is dead against it.

He called "typical Trumanism" proposals made earlier this week before the house banking committee by former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman urged a five billion dollar tax cut for middle and low income groups. He also suggested a 5-year plan for increased government spending to offset the current recession.

"If we followed his (Truman's) advice, our national debt would hit the moon before our missiles do," Byrnes said.

Patience Plant

Indoor Gardening

Patience Plant Provides Snowflakes in Summer

BY KATHERINE B. WALKER

Snowflakes in the summer? Yes, and in your window garden all year long, if you try the newest white flowered Patience plant (Impatiens var. Snowflakes).

There have been other varieties which had white blossoms, but none were quite the sparkling, clear color of this new one. It comes mostly true from seed, although a very few plants may show a faint pink blush. These are easily weeded out, and new plants may be started from the pure white ones simply by breaking off four-inch lengths of the tips and inserting them in water until they root.

Patience plant has long been a favorite house plant not only because it flowers so freely but also because it is easy to grow and propagate. It prefers a neutral soil of humus loam, and should be given enough water to keep the soil constantly moist but not wet.

The plants do best in a moderately warm place, with partial shade during the summer and more sun during the winter. They benefit from frequent top spraying with clear water, which promotes new growth, prevents bud blast, and keeps red spidermites at bay.

Easily Started. Patience-plant is easily started from seed as well as cuttings, and the succulent, deep green foliage may be topped with flowers in shades of pink, red or salmon as well as white.

Patience plant begins to flower when very small, and Snowflake, one of the dwarf types, never does get very big. Since this is a new introduction, you may not find it at your local greenhouses, but seed can be ordered by mail. When you place your seed order for this, don't forget to order some of the other fine indoor plants we have described, such as Freckleface (Hypoestes sanguinolenta), Maurandia, Kenilworth-ivy (Linaria or Cymbalaria), Lantana and others. These are all easily started from seed, and packets contain full directions.

Questions and Answers

Whenever I ask my florist for some plant I've read about in your columns, he says you never write about plants that are known or can be purchased, and he told me to quit "badgering" him about them. Where can I get some of these plants you describe? Mrs. J.B.H.

You can buy any plant I describe from a mail order source on our source sheet which is sent to readers who request it. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and send with request to 826 Moulton street, Muskegon, Mich.

I have always suggested that readers try local sources first, but if your florist feels he is being badgered by your interest, I will be glad to recommend a dealer or dealers who are more interested in accommodating the buying public.

However, if he is not familiar with at least half of the plants I describe, I doubt he has been a florist very long; at least two out of four columns are devoted to plants which are standard in the trade.

Go to the Church of Your Choice on Sunday

Let's Keep the Lord's Day and Get Back to God's Way!

Protect Your American Heritage

a time for rest, worship and fellowship

Who really owns Sunday? As a Christian people we have been taught, Six days shalt Thou work and Rest on the Seventh. Are we going to tolerate the teachings of Christ and instead use Sunday for commercial purposes for the sake of the Dollar? Employer and employee are forgetting their Christian obligation to one another. Remember, when we engage in business on Sunday we are taking the first step toward complete destruction of the Lord's Day and OUR own forced employment on that day.

Now, to you who want to shop on Sunday, you deny some employee or sales person the same privilege you have of enjoying the Lord's Day as a day of rest and worship.

Let's keep Sunday as a day for the church and not for business by refusing to make any purchase on Sunday. Throughout the week, patronize those merchants who respect the best interests of the community by keeping their places of business closed on the Lord's Day. This is a small price to pay for the blessings which come from a Sunday given to the church of your choice.

Facts That Hold Us Responsible To Keep the Lord's Day Holy

The Lord's Day has meant much to America; in fact, many of our national statesmen have credited the great prosperity of our nation to the observance of Sunday as a day of worship and rest.

Let us hold fast to this Day which has been established upon the greatest fact of all history, the Resurrection of our Lord, and which was observed by the early Church and become a day of blessing to all who used it reverently.

What the Lord's Day means to all Christians.

The Lord's Day, commonly called Sunday, has been a real source of blessing to all generations from the very first Easter, when our Lord arose from the dead, to the present day. The Lord observed both the Passover and the seventh day as the Sabbath during His ministry on earth. The night before He was betrayed. He abrogated the Passover by instituting the Lord's Supper. After observing the seventh day all His life, he abrogated it by rising from the dead on the first day of the week. Therefore, Jesus abrogated both the Passover and the seventh day for worship by an act and not by a command.

78,672 Crowd Sets 3 Attendance Marks

Coliseum Gathering Is Biggest Ever To See NL Game

Los Angeles—(AP)—The Dodgers had three attendance records tumbled away today and a bigger target ahead this season.

An even though, in typical Brooklyn tradition, they "revoiced" themselves into a 6-5 victory over their former New York foes, the San Francisco Giants, their debut before 78,672 fans was a happy event.

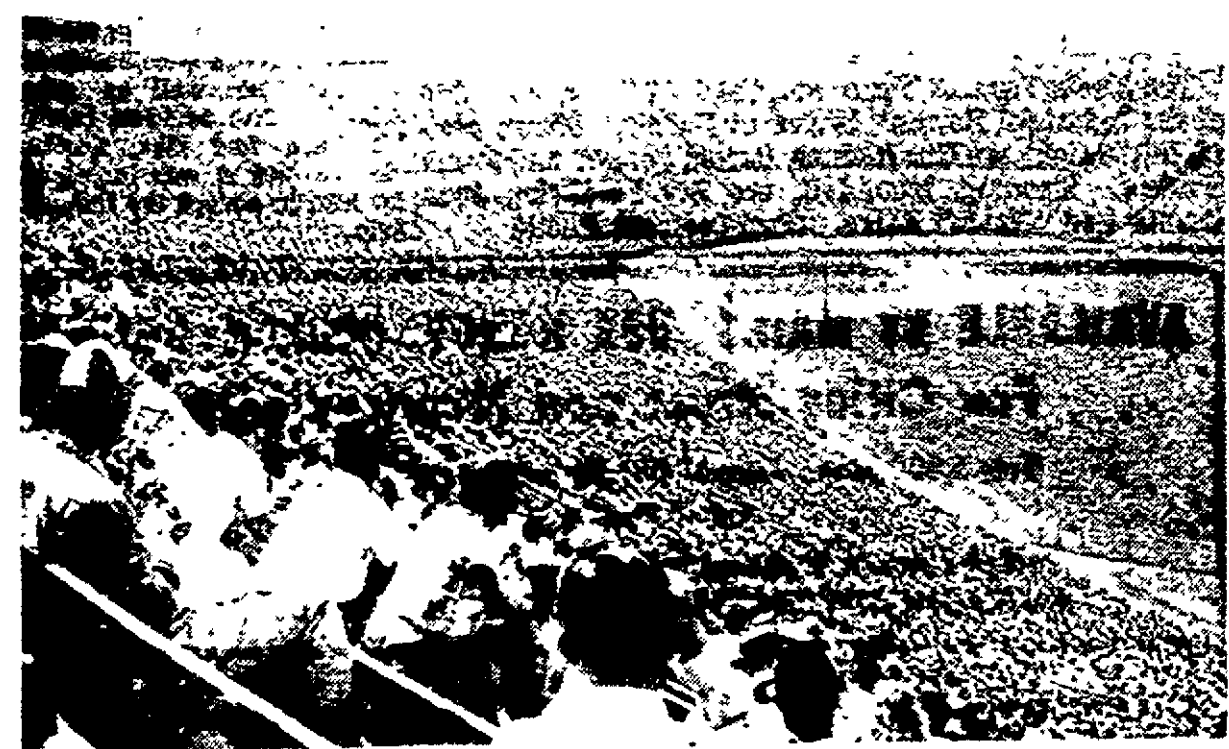

Today 60,000 or more fans were expected in Memorial coliseum for the second of the 3-game series, with pitcher Ruben Gomez hoping to make it two in a row in a week for the Giants, and Danny McDevitt set to lead off for the Dodgers.

Exceeds Cleveland Crowd
The 78,672 crowd was the largest that ever saw a single regular season game in the majors, exceeding the 78,382 who saw the Chicago White Sox at Cleveland Aug. 20, 1948, in a night contest.

It exceeded the National league regular season single game of 60,747 for the Giants-Dodgers in the Polo Grounds in 1937.

It also bettered the 74,200 opening day record for the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox game in 1923 when Yankee stadium first opened.

The big attendance record is 86,288, set at Cleveland in the World Series against Boston in 1948.

These Right Field Spectators seated in the far reaches of the Los Angeles coliseum needed field glasses Friday to watch the Dodger-San Francisco Giants baseball game. The Dodgers made their home debut a success (6-5) as 78,672 fans—a major league record for a single, non-World Series game—looked on. (AP Wirephoto)

Dodgers Nudge Giants, 6-5, In LA Debut

Only One Homer Is Hit Over Left Field Screen

By The Associated Press

The decision is still out on the Los Angeles coliseum's screen test.

Some college kids cleared the 42-foot high, 140-foot long barrier in left field with ease a couple of weeks ago, and the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants put 32 shots over it in batting practice Friday.

But of the three homers hit in actual combat, only one got lost behind the screen. And, ironically, the screen checked what would have been a home run in either the Polo grounds or Ebbets field and saved a 6-5 decision for the Dodgers in their home debut.

Goes for Double
Rookie Jim Davenport's third hit (he's 10-for-19) went for only a double off the screen in a ninth-inning Giants rally that fell short of a tie when Davenport missed third while racing for home on rookie Willie Kirkland's triple.

While you could argue either way about the screen at the Coliseum, where a crowd of 78,672 set a major league record for a regular season single game, there were no questions about two shots that won for Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

Rookie Vada Pinson's first home run was a grand slammer that gave the Redlegs a 4-1 victory at Pittsburgh. And Johnny Logan belted a bases-loaded job off Jack Sanford for a 4-2 Milwaukee decision over Philadelphia. The unbeaten Chicago Cubs rapped winless St. Louis again, 11-6.

Hank Sauer's second homer of the day for the Giants was a high pop over the screen, which starts at the foul pole, 250 feet from the plate. His first was a 340-footer to left center, past the screen. So was rookie Dick Gray's, which proved the clincher in the seventh for the Dodgers.

Foxes Abandon Plan to Install Box Seats in '58

The Fox Cities baseball club has decided to abandon its plan for installing box seats at Goodland field this season, according to Business Manager Bob Willis.

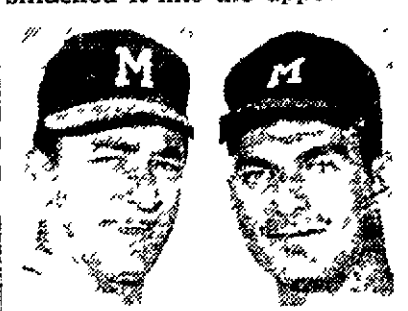

The decision was made because of the limited time available and the importance of completing the outfield fence and other projects of greater priority, Willis reports.

If the demand for reserved seats warrants it, a greater number of those seats will be set aside, Willis said.

Second Grand Slam of Johnny's Career Gives Bob Buhl 4-2 Decision Over Jack Sanford

Philadelphia—(AP)—The Milwaukee Braves Friday night lumped all of their scoring into one grand burst—a grand slam homer by Johnny Logan—and with a bit of sharp relief hurling by Don McMahon defeated Philadelphia's Phillies, 4-2.

The seventh-batting Logan picked on a fast ball tossed by Jack Sanford, National league rookie of 1957, and smacked it into the upper deck.

Logan Buhl in left center field. It was the second bases-full homer of his career for the Braves' shortstop and his first home run of the season.

McMahon Comes In
The big blast gave the victory to Milwaukee's fastball ace Bob Buhl who allowed only two hits in the first seven innings. The Phillies got to him for a pair of runs in the eighth and when two Phillies got on base in the ninth McMahon came on and struck out "Rip" Repulski for the final out.

Commenting on the homer, Logan said, "It must be contagious."

He explained "What with my locker right next to Ed Matthews I've been watching him. He got four in the first two

Carleton Net Team Downs Vikings, 9-0

Northfield, Minn.—Carleton college's veteran-laden tennis team defeated Lawrence's inexperienced Vikings, 9-0, here Friday afternoon.

It was the third match of the season for Carleton, and the first for Lawrence, Midwest conference champion, which has only one letterman back.

In the No. 1 singles match, Jim Priest turned back Bill Anderson, 6-1, 6-3.

The results of the other singles matches were: Larry Leeder over Dan Schuyler, 6-2, 6-2; Jim Halfaker over Tom Hurvis, 6-1, 2-6, 8-6; Bob Van Stone over Pete Welch, 6-1, 7-5; Bern Snyder over Bob Thurow, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; and Bob Christensen over John Kehr, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

In the top doubles test, Leeder and Priest downed Anderson and Schuyler, 6-2, 7-5.

In other doubles play, it was Van Stone-Halfaker over Welch-Hurvis, 6-2 and 6-3; and John Wilson and Ted Wahlford over Thurow and Kehr, 6-2, 3-6 and 6-1.

Foxes' Banquet Speaker Giles Got His Baseball Start in 3-I League

Warren C. Giles, who got his professional baseball start in the Three-I league, will help to get the Fox Cities off on the right foot in the same circuit Thursday night.

This coincidental, and altogether appropriate gesture, will provide the icing to the "Welcome Foxes" banquet Thursday night in the Appleton Elks club.

Tickets for the affair—whose guest list also includes three-I league President Hal Totten, Foxes Manager Pete Suder and the complete playing roster of the ball club—are on sale at the club office, 109 N. Durkee street (3-4152).

Giles, who has been president of the National league since 1951, took over the presidency of the Mohne, Ill., club in the Three-I circuit in 1920 when he turned down an offer to remain as IL president. In was only 24 years old. He has since accepted an offer to serve with distinction as a become vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Reds in September, 1936.

games, so I figured it was about time I got into the act."

Sanford, with 19 victories last season, started the sixth inning by walking Bob Hazle. But then he got Hank Aaron and Mathews and appeared out of trouble until Frank Torre singled and Andy Patko walked.

Hazle, Torre and Patko, were waiting at home to pound Logan on the back when he arrived. Johnny's hit was one of six collected by the Braves.

A home opening crowd of 31,624 saw Sanford and Buhl locked in a great duel until Logan gave the Braves the victory. It was the first defeat of the new season for Sanford and the first triumph for Buhl who was 18-7 last year.

Spots of Trouble
While spreading two hits over the first seven innings Buhl had spots of trouble. One was in the first inning when Richie Ashburn singled and two walks filled the bases with two out. The inning ended as rookie Chuck Essegian hit into a force play. Sanford collected the only other early hit, a single.

In the eighth a 2-base error by Aaron, Ashburn's second hit, and a triple by Harry Anderson gave the Phillies their runs. In the ninth after two were out Ted Kazanski got the fifth and last hit and then pinch-batter Dave Philley walked before Buhl was excused and McMahon was called in to preserve the victory.

The Phillies haven't beaten Buhl since 1956. He beat them five times last year and holds a 13-5 mastery over the club. It was the first victory for the Braves over Sanford who beat them twice last year.

The Braves and Phillies were scheduled again this afternoon with Warren Spahn facing Curt Simmons in a battle of left-handers. The teams will close the series Sunday afternoon.

Middlecoff's Golf Lessons Begin Monday

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, one of pro golf's finest shot-makers, is the author of the "Doctoring Your Golf" series which begins Monday in the Post-Crescent.

Middlecoff decided in 1947 to leave the dental profession and has given tournament golf his full-time attention ever since.

Among his long string of tournament titles two of the most memorable were his 1949 U. S. Open win and his 1955 Masters win. At the Medinah County club course, near Chicago, Middlecoff overcame the pressure of a nip-and-tuck open tourney by paring the final six holes for a 286 and a 1-stroke victory.

Middlecoff's 279 at Augusta in 1955 gave him a 7-stroke victory—the widest margin in the history of the Masters tourney. The highlight was a second-round 65, one of the best rounds in Masters annals. He used only 27 putts on the 18 holes, and one of them, a phenomenal 82-footer gave him an eagle 3.

In the last 10 years, Middlecoff has been among the top money winners consistently.

Beaumont, Tex.—(AP)—A 2-under-par 71 by veteran Louise Suggs of Atlanta and Mickey Wright of San Diego led the $5,000 Babe Zaharias open golf tournament into its second round today.

The two went in front by a stroke in the opening 18 holes Friday as a field of 24 moved out in the 54-hole tournament.

Defending champion Marlene Bauer Hage of Delray Beach, Fla., was one stroke back as was Patty Berg, the Minneapolis redhead who was rated the favorite in the tournament.

Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee and amateur Clifford Ann Creed, the golfing gal from Lamar Tech college of Beaumont, also had 72s.

Gibson Plans No Immediate Changes in IBC

Succeeds Norris As President of Trouble-Plagued Unit

New York—(AP)—Now that Jim Norris has resigned as president of the far-flung but trouble-plagued International Boxing club, what changes are in store for the organization?

None, at least for the present, it was indicated today. Truman Gibson, the new president, said:

"We will have to wait until the supreme court makes its ruling. Until then, no changes will be made in our operations."

Agrees to Hear Appeal
Gibson, a 46-year-old Negro attorney, referred to the fact that the government last July found the IBC of both New York and Chicago, the Madison Square Garden corporation and Norris guilty of monopolizing championship fights.

It directed the IBC of New York and Illinois to be dissolved. But the supreme court has agreed to hear the IBC's appeal.

Another question that also appears to be answered:

Now that Norris is out, will heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson be willing to fight for the IBC?

Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, has refused to have anything to do with Norris. His feeling doesn't seem to have changed.

Said Gus: "The only move that will bring about an improvement in the boxing situation is for the IBC to give up one of its two weekly boxing telecasts and restore competition."

Whether Gibson, who was elected IBC executive vice-president only last fall, can change D'Amato's mind remains to be seen.

Yanks Deal Orioles First Defeat, 3-1, Move Into Lead

Herb Score Goes Route in 7-5 Win Over Tigers; Chisox Triumph

By The Associated Press

Herb Score, Cleveland's courageous young pitcher, now has passed the third barrier in his comeback bid, overcoming poor fielding support and his own wildness to win his first game with the crackling and curve that have made him baseball's most consistent strikeout sensation.

Share Third Place

The 24-year-old lefty, who first battled to retain sight in his left eye after last May's dreadful accident, then returned to face a batter again, gained his first complete game Friday with a 5-hit, 8-strikeout job that beat Detroit, 7-5.

The victory pushed Cleveland into a 4-way share of third in the American league. The

19-Year-Old Rookie Raps Grand Slam Homer for Redlegs

Pittsburgh — "His talent overcomes his youth."

That was what happy "Birdie" Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, said in the dressing room Friday as he gave rookie Vada Pinson a verbal pat on the back.

Tebbetts was the first to congratulate his 19-year-old Negro outfielder after Pinson smashed a grand slam homer in the third inning off righthander Ronnie Kline to give the Redlegs a 4-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I don't know whether Kline threw me a slider or a curve," Pinson said. "All I know is it was the first home run I ever hit in the majors and it was the first grand slam homer I ever hit anywhere. I'll never forget the thrill."

Pinson, trying to make the jump from Class C baseball to the majors, was modestly itself as his teammates and Tebbetts congratulated him.

NCAA Rules Infractions Unit Reports Monday

New Orleans — The executive committee and council of the National Collegiate Athletic association today opened what it called regular spring meetings, but the report of the group's committee on rules infractions may touch off firestorms.

Today's session of the 3-day meeting was devoted to considering expansion of committees on various sports to give smaller member colleges more recognition.

But the big news is expected when the rules infractions committee, headed by A. B. Kewan of the University of Kentucky submits its report Monday.

NCAA officials declined to speculate if any disciplinary action would be taken, but since 1952 the committee's report has always been followed by punitive action. There were unconfirmed reports that three Southeastern Conference schools were due for punishment.

East Lansing, Mich. — Ohio State held the team lead with 14 points as the NCAA weight lifting championships headed into the final three events tonight at Michigan State university.

Individual champions crown of Friday night included Jim George, 155, Olympic team candidate from Kent State; John M. in the 198-pound class and Joe DeWand, Michigan State, in the 152-pound class.

Other team scores were Eastern Michigan, 8; Wayne State, 6; Marquette, 4; and Southern Illinois, 2.

Suit Your Needs When Purchasing New Boat

BY JOHN BOHANNAN

One of the most baffling problems facing the newcomer to boating is trying to decide what type of boat he should get. What he may think he wants may not fit his needs.

A chap I knew bought a 16-foot sloop and kept it at a large lake about 100 miles from his home. He planned to use it on week-ends and during vacations. However, the motels which were so easy to rent in early spring were filled long before he could arrive at the height of the season. Other rooming facilities were booked many weeks in advance. More often than not, he couldn't find a place to stay over night.

He solved the problem to some extent by purchasing an air mattress and sleeping in the bottom of the boat, with a tent-like canvas shelter rigged over the boom. It was fine except on calm nights when the mosquitoes gave him a rough time.

Takes Quick Runs

Before the next season opened, he found that his business had picked up to the point where he had very little time left for boating. His weekends became half-days. He had to take advantage of precious hours whenever he could find them.

Bending the sails now seemed too much of a time-consuming effort. He found himself taking quick runs out the channel under outboard power.

After several weeks has passed without our friend finding time to enjoy one leisurely sail, he sold the sloop and bought an outboard cruiser, complete with soft, comfortable bunks, galley and screens. A pair of 35-horsepower electric-starting outboard motors got him away from the harbor in a hurry, and brought him back on time.

Top Derby Candidate Edges Out Nadir At Keeneland

By The Associated Press

Tim Tam blasted the Keeneland track record in what probably was the Calumet colt's next-to-last tuneup for the Kentucky derby, but one of his chief rivals for the May 3 Louisville classic is still to be heard from.

That's Jewel's Reward, top colt in Maine Chance farm's 4-horse derby invasion forces. He was listed as the odds-on favorite for the $50,000-added Wood Memorial today at Jamaica.

Tim Tam finished a head back of Jewel's Reward in the Flamingo at Hialeah March 1, then got the first money after the Maine Chance colt was disqualified for bumping. That's the last time they met. Tim Tam went on and won the Florida derby at Gulfstream.

His first outing since that race March 29 was the Blue Grass Heights purse Friday. Bill Hartack steered the colt home by a half-length over Clairborne Farm's Nadir, another top derby candidate.

George Schmid Hurls Perfect Game for UW

Glenview, Ill. — George Schmid tossed a perfect no-hit game for the University of Wisconsin baseball team Friday to win a 16-0 victory over Glenview Naval Air station.

Schmid fanned 18 of the 27 batters that faced him. Only two of his pitches were hit hard and both times were stopped in the infield. He also collected three hits and drove in two runs. Bill Mallatt, Jim Lesniak, Walt Holt and Ed Cannon also got three hits apiece for the Badgers.

Russ Mueller smashed a homer for Wisconsin. Schmid's perfect game and 18 strikeouts are Badger records.

Shomo, Torres Show Way in AAU Ring Tourney

Boston — Schoolboy Vince Shomo and Olympian Jose Torres, a pair of stiff-punching campaigners from New York, appeared the class of the competition today entering the windup of the seventeenth national AAU boxing championships at the garden.

Shomo, 17-year old high school junior who has won the national Golden Gloves for two straight years, opened defense of his 139-pound AAU title Friday night with a pair of bruising technical knockouts.

Torres, the 165-pound Golden Gloves titlist beaten in the Olympic finals two years ago, stopped his trial bout opponent and then rounded out a unanimous decision in a quarter-final brawl.

Bruins Retain Hopes for Upset In 'Cup' Play

Boston — The Boston Bruins still had their upset hopes today while preparing for a "must" win Sunday night in the sixth game of the Stanley cup championship series with the Montreal Canadiens.

The Bruins, who finished the regular National Hockey league campaign in fourth place far behind the powerful Canadiens, refused to concede Montreal its third straight Stanley cup.

"We're down in games, but not downhearted," said Boston Coach Milt Schmidt. "We lost a tough one in Montreal and it hurt. But we'll be out there fighting to square the series Sunday at the Garden."

Rating Pitchers on Won-Loss Marks Is the Bunk, Says Loes

New York — Billy Loes is the ace pitcher of the Baltimore Orioles, but take it from him, he'd rather be a journeyman on the New York Yankees' staff.

"But," he said almost sadly today, "a pitcher doesn't have a chance in the world of being traded to the Yankees if he has a good year."

"Maybe I ought to have a bad one. Look at Bobby Shantz. He had a bad year with Kansas City and winds up with the Yankees."

15-Year-Old Totals 1,821 In All-Events

Syracuse, N. Y. — The 2-man division has again proved to be the most vulnerable department in the fifty-fifth American Bowling congress.

The leadership in the doubles category was exchanged twice Friday.

Dick Selgo and Don Bredehoff, Port Clinton, Ohio, enjoyed some extremely transient glory when they assembled a 1,335 series to take command of wins more games with the Orioles. Does that make him a better pitcher than I am? Certainly not. It's just that he pitches beat them out by one pin with for the Yanks and I don't."

Even with his 12-7 mark last year, Loes managed to pitch became the youngest 1,800 only eight complete games and shooter in ABC history Friday 155 innings. Don't go away. The 15-year-old son of Ed Ger- though, he has an explanation, 1955 ABC singles champion rolled 636-542-643-1,821 all-events aggregate.

3 Deadlocked For Golf Lead

Harney, Collins and Lema 10 Under Par In Derby Open

Louisville, Ky. — A real horse race finish loomed today for the Kentucky Derby Open golf tournament, with more than a score of swingers in challenging position.

On the inside track, tied for the lead with 10-under-par 134s, were Paul Harney, an old hand at tourney play, and newcomers Tony Lema and Bill Collins.

Behind them, the field was bunched heads apart. At the halfway mark of the 72-hole playoff, just six strokes separated the first 22 golfers.

Putter Rarely Fails

Harney, the Worcester, Mass., stroker, was a wizard from tee to greens Friday. His putter rarely failed him.

Lema, 24-year-old former Marine from Napa, Calif., looked like a real coner on the golf scene as he displayed a variety of expert shots, including the pro-circuit's sixth hole-in-1 of the season. He holed a 138-yard tee shot on No. 13 with his 9-iron.

Collins, a surprise leader the first day with his course-record-equaling 65, added a 69 Friday.

Lurking one stroke back of the leaders were two dangerous campaigners, the veteran Chick Harbert from Northville, Mich., and Cincinnati's Tom Nieporte.

Athlete Files $26,000 Suit In Accident Case

Racine — A high school basketball player has filed a $26,000 damage suit in circuit court claiming that auto accident injuries prevented him from getting a college athletic scholarship. The action was filed by James Steffens, Rochester, and his insurance company against a trucker, George Flebno, and Flebno's insurance carrier. The suit is based on a collision April 23, 1957, between Flebno's truck and a car driven by Steffens.

Steffens, who played basketball for the Rochester Agricultural school before graduating in 1954, said he had planned to enter college and was eligible for financial help under the Big Ten conference scholarship aid program, as well as other schools. The accident injured his knee and ribs, Steffens claims, and it was impossible for him to accept the financial help.

who were named solid pennant contenders, Scheffing replied:

"I'd say we're ahead of those teams that trained in Florida. They had a lot of rainouts and we and the other Arizona teams got in a lot more work. There are a lot of factors in our quick start but two of them are rookies John Goryl and Tony Taylor. They've just been great."

Both Taylor, who was shifted from third to second base, and Goryl, the new third baseman, have been instrumental in Chicago's early success. Aside from their brilliant defensive play, both have contributed timely hitting.

Strong up The Middle

"They give the team the defensive strength it's needed," said Coach Rogers Hornsby. "This club has improved its defense and with Bobby Thomson in center, the team is strong up the middle."

"Good defense makes your pitching look good," continued Hornsby, one of the game's all-time greats, "and don't forget, there are about five guys in that lineup that can knock the ball out of the park. This club is greatly improved and I think those guys who picked us to finish last are going to change their minds once they see us in action."

Walt Moryn, who homered in Friday's route, also had a lot of praise for Goryl and Taylor.

"Those two are giving us a lot of depth. They're keeping guys like Bobby Morgan and Bob Adams on the bench. With them we have guys like 'Chuck' Tanner and Jim Bolger—that's a lot of depth."

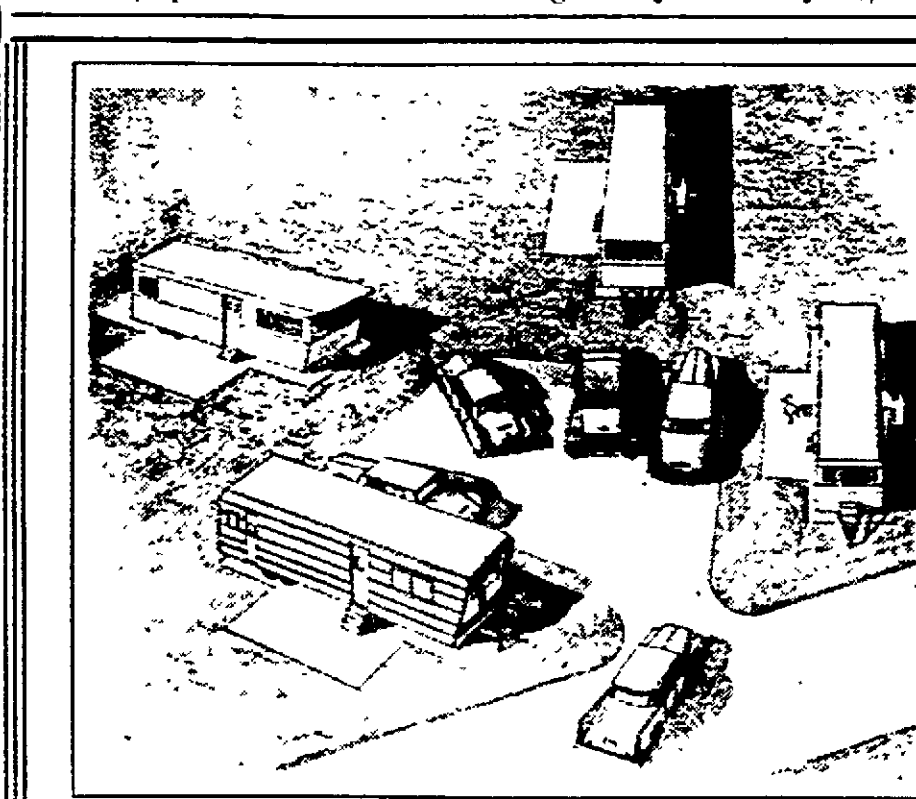

"And that guy over there," continued Moryn, pointing to Scheffing, "he's all right. He's got us thinking and playing like a team."

'58 Home Show Exhibits Interest Whole Family

Items of interest for everyone in the family and a touch of circus atmosphere are high-lighting the 1958 Knights of Pythias home show.

Doors, screens, windows, power mower and garden equipment attracted the interest of the more than 1,000 visitors Friday night.

An additional "big top" flavor, will be added at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon when "Bertha," a baby elephant, will perform in the parking lot on S. Morrison and E. Kimball streets.

"This summer I'm going to let a machine do the lawn and garden work for me," one male visitor remarked, after a thorough examination of the power mower and garden tractor exhibit.

Check Appliances

Women have been checking the newest advances in household appliances. They divided their interest between new refrigerators, ovens and sewing machines. Spacious cupboards also have been drawing housewives' attention.

One couple studied home heating and cooling units and agreed that if the warm April weather in the Fox Cities is any indication of a long warm summer, it's time to give serious thought to making the family abode a cooler place in which to live.

Youngsters were attracted by displays of bicycles, scooters and other mobile toys. A small car was particularly enjoyed. Crowds have been attracted to a display of bird houses built by Fox Cities youngsters for a bird house contest.

Free Prizes

Along with the colorful displays along home show midways are free prizes. Refreshments are served by the Pythian Sisters.

Visitors are taking advantage of free tours through two newly-built homes. The houses are located at 1624 N. Racine street and 1806 N. Bennett street. Tour tickets are distributed at the National Guard armory on E. College avenue.

Funeral services will be at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Nicholas Catholic church, Freedom, with burial in St. Nicholas cemetery. Friends may call at the Garvey residence where the rosary will be recited at 8 o'clock Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Student, 22, Dies
After Fall Down
Stairs at College

A 22-year-old Lawrence college student died Friday afternoon of injuries received in a fall at the college Tuesday.

John H. Scidmore, Jr., Janesville, died from a skull fracture, Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said. Scidmore was standing near the top of a flight of stairs outside the college's Main hall when he turned to talk to another student and fell. Kemps said Scidmore fell about seven steps, striking the concrete with his shoulder and head. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital and never regained full consciousness. Kemps ruled the death accidental and said no inquest would be held.

Scidmore was born in Janesville Oct. 19, 1935, and was a senior at Lawrence. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Scidmore, Janesville, both Lawrence alumni, and a sister, Sue, a sophomore at Lawrence. Scidmore was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and a member of its pledge training board. He served as a cadet in the Lawrence air force reserve officers training corps.

Funeral arrangements are pending and will be held in Janesville.

Jamaica Report

Boys Find New Experiences, Friends at Brigade Camp

Neenah — Letters received here by wives and mothers of the Boys' Brigadiers in Jamaica indicate that the 10 youths and three adult leaders are overcoming the hardships of the foreign land while making new friends and enjoying new experiences.

Arriving at the second international camp on the West Indies island the Twin City party was confronted with living conditions different from those on Camp Onaway. Most homes on the island don't bother with hot water, and none was available for dish washing or showers.

The local crew and the English Brigadiers, however, heated their own water for dishes and welcomed occasional cloud-bursts for warm showers.

The white-skinned boys find themselves in tents with boys from many parts of the earth. Jack Casper, Brigade coordinator, reports responsibility for a tent with Jamaican, Haitian and Antigua boys, all coal black and, Casper says, grand youngsters. The boys from Haiti speak and understand only French and sign language.

Colorful Setting — The international camp, which commemorates the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Brigade at Glasgow, Scotland, is situated in a beautiful valley surrounded by hills. The sun and fleecy clouds, playing upon the multicolored flowering trees and shrubs which cover the hills, is, they say, a spectacular sight.

Latest reports of what the tropical sun is doing to white skins sound painful, but the boys are enjoying it.

Neenah — A full schedule of programs is planned for Boys' Brigadiers next week, the final week of the year for organized activity. The Brigadiers will be several weeks winding up projects and athletic competitions that have been going on all year, however.

On Monday evening the sixth grade will hear John Rehvinie talk on Indian life, and will see the film "Pueblo Boy."

The ninth graders have a potluck supper and a special program planned and the tenth graders will wind up their leadership training program on the same night.

On Tuesday evening the seventh graders, closing their safety studies, will see two movies, "Test Driver" and "Paddle a Safe Canoe."

The eighth graders Tuesday will see the film "Portrait of a City" as part of their travel and transportation theme.

Special interest groups will meet on Wednesday and Thursday.

Highway 116 Extension To Lake Asked by Board

Sheriff Committee Would Put GG Onto State Road System

Oshkosh — Placing County Trunk GG from County Trunk A west to Highway 110 in the towns of Vinland and Winneconne on the state highway system was among several requests submitted to the county board Thursday by the sheriff, coroner's and safety committee.

This and other requests were referred to the county highway committee for study. This could serve as an extension of Highway 116 which now ends at Highway 110 near Winneconne.

The sheriff's committee also asked the bad hills on this road be cut down. The eastern end of this county trunk is known as the Old Glory farm corner. Centerline several hills on the road also was suggested.

Ask BP Widening — Another request was for the widening of County Trunk BP, the Old Manitowoc road, in the town of Menasha which now is narrow and has severe ditches on both sides of the road.

Other requests included removing a billboard or sign at the intersection of County Trunks GG and A and to remove a sign at County Trunk T and GG, placing it in a different location. Erection of an intersection sign at Highway 47 and County Trunk AP also was asked.

A proposed resolution on the removal of top soil was referred back to the county zoning committee for further study at the suggestion of Supv. Oliver Jacobsen, town of Menasha, who thought the wording of the resolution was such that it would prohibit gravel pits.

Wheel Ornaments of String Make Pretty Decorations

BY CAPPY DICK

Ornamental wheels made of colored string are ideal decorations for a felt or leather cap, a school bag, or leather table mats. Today's fun-project directions tell how to make them.

Practice on cardboard. First, draw two circles, one inside the other (Figure 1). The big one should be three inches wide, the small one two inches. With a ruler draw a line through the hole. Experiment and you will discover how to make many other designs. When you have learned the knack on cardboard, decorate your cap or, as the girl has done in Figure 4, your school bag.

Menasha Topples Pulaski 6-2 for 4th Straight Win

Ken Konetzke, Gordy Selbach Allow One Hit; Bluejays Get Seven

Menasha — Menasha's Ken Konetzke and Gordy Selbach, who threw a no-hitter in the season's opener against Brillion were just as effective against Pulaski Thursday afternoon, allowing only one safety as the Bluejays took a 6-2 win.

Only a sharp single through the box in the fourth inning by Raider Catcher Ron Kryger spoiled another no-hitter for the ace twirlers. Menasha pounded out seven hits, including two doubles, in romping to its fourth straight win.

Three of the Jays' tallies were unearned. Pulaski, playing its first game of the season, was rusty in fielding, coming up with five errors during the encounter played at the Menasha ball park.

Menasha Takes Lead Menasha jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning with both scorers unearned. After Dave Neubauer led off with a walk, Tom Remmel flied out and Selbach was safe on a fielder's choice after forcing Neubauer at second.

Selbach advanced to second when Raider third baseman Lloyd Blaszczak bobbled Don Nelson's grounder. Konetzke rapped a one-bagger to center scoring Selbach and Nelson tallied on a follow-up single into left by Jerry Koslowski.

Pulaski scored its first run, which also was unearned, in the top of the fourth. With one away Kryger singled to center and moved to second on a passed ball. After Raider hurler Huckle VandenElzen walked, Chuck Dorn whiffed for out number two. Kryger came home when Menasha shortstop Don Nelson threw Dick McDermid's slow roller over the first baseman's head.

Menasha came up with a run in the fourth to take a 3-1 lead. Koslowski blasted a two-bagger over the center fielder's head to lead off the fourth frame. He scored when Bill Gammy's grounder went through Raider second baseman Wayne Naparrella's legs.

Two More Runs The Bluejays scored two more runs in the fifth and one unearned run in the sixth. Bill

Jays First in Ripon Meet

MHS Track Squad Nets 2-Point Win Over Beaver Dam; Jersild Captures Both Hurdle Events

Ripon — Posting a win in the final event, the 880 yard relay, Menasha eked a 79-77 win over Beaver Dam in a triangular here Friday afternoon. Ripon placed third with 56 points.

The surprising Jays placed first in only four events, including the relay but added three clear seconds and a tie for a third plus seven third places to capture the meet.

The point spread was close all the way with only a point or two separating the Menashans and Beaver Dam most of the way.

Double Victor Menasha's Carl "Rocky" Jersild capped two wins and a second to lead the victors. He placed first in the high hurdles in 16.5 and won the lows in 22.4 although he hit a hurdle and then turned around to see where it fell. Jersild also tied for second in the high jump.

Jim Hanson gave Menasha a second in the highs and Jim Funk got a third in the lows. Tom Stepanski gave the Jays their third individual win with a leap of 19 feet, 5 1/2 inches in the broad jump. Ron Haass was third.

Beavers Edged The fourth Menasha win, a 10-point, came in the relay where it edged Beaver Dam, winning in 1:38.2. Stepanski, Walt Lehrer, Haass and Jerry Sobieszyk made up the foursome.

Merlin Norenberg, Beaver Dam's outstanding sophomore, won both dash events, nipping Sobieszyk each time. An oddity occurred in the scheduled 100 when by mistake the judge put the tape at the 120 yard mark instead of the 100. Norenberg won in 12 seconds. Sobieszyk was second and Stepanski fourth in the 220, won by the Beaver Dam youngsters in 23.1.

The Beavers won the medley relay with the Jays a close second. The time was 4:03.2. Bob Frederich was third in the 440 won by Caves of Beaver Dam in 54.9. The Menashans time was 57.1. Schanke of the Jays placed fifth.

Larry Wright placed third and Roland Kippenbon was fourth in the 880. Ripon's veteran, John Diedrich, capped in 2:13.75. The mile went to Beaver Dam's McAvoy in 4:51.2. Larry Russell gave Menasha three points with a third. Menasha picked up a fourth and fifth in the discus on efforts by Dave Emerich and Larry Wright. Mike Williams, Ripon's fine weightman, won with 124 feet, 3 inches. Williams took the shot put with 49 feet, 10 inches. Charlie Weber had 41 feet, 7 inches to give Menasha a third and Dick Taves was fourth with 40 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Jersild and Radtke of Ripon tied for second in the high jump, capped by Beaver Dam's Clarey at 5 feet, 3 inches. Hanson was fifth. Menasha picked up a point in the pole vault on a fifth by Wallace Maynard. Roming of Ripon was first at 9 feet, 6 inches.
